DETAILED ACTION

EXAMINER 'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Jefferey M. Glabicki on 04-07-05.

The application has been amended as follows:

In the claims:

Claim 7, line 2, "compromises" has been changed into --- comprises ---.

Claim 7, line 5, "compromises" has been changed into --- comprises ---.

Reason for Allowance

2. Regarding claims 1-6, the prior art fails to teach or suggest a method for changing a number of active users in a multiuser call in a broadband telephony network, the network capable of establishing and deleting connections between the users, the method comprises a step that in response to the user number change, for one of the users having the initial active status, changing the destination of one of that maintained one active user's connections where that one active user is the origin while that active user remains as that one connection's origin, in combination with other limitations, as specified in the independent claims 1, and 15.

Regarding claims 7-10, the prior art fails to teach or suggest a network for changing a number of active users in a multiuser call, the network comprises a processor for receiving commands from a call agent, wherein the call agent for producing commands associated with connections of the multiuser call and in response to the change in the number of users, the commands direct one of the communication gateways to change the destination of a connection of the one gateway where that one gateway is maintained as an origin of the one gateway connection, in combination with other limitations, as specified in the independent claim 7.

Regarding claims 11-14, and 16-18, the prior art fails to teach or suggest a call agent for changing a number of users in a multiuser call, the call agent comprises a call signaling block for producing commands, wherein the commands direct one user of the multiuser call to change the destination of a connection of the one user where that one user is maintained as an origin of that connection, in combination with other limitations, as specified in the independent claim 11.

Regarding claim 15, the prior art fails to teach or suggest a communications gateway of a broadband telephony network, the communications gateway comprises a processor having an input configured to receive the received commands and in response to receiving commands associated with the number of users change, changing a destination of messages transmitted by the communication gateway over one of the transmitting connections while maintaining other characteristics of the connection, in combination with other limitations.

3. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
